TO LIMIT HOURS OF LABOR.

Barrett's Resolution Introduced in the House.

shington, D. C., May 8.—Representa- W. E. Barrett of Massachusetts, toy introduced in the House a joint resoion, proposing an amendment to the stitution of the United States providthat Congress shall have power by propriate legislation to limit the time, ing which persons may be daily emyed in manufactories of textile fabe and other industries.

Barrett explains that this amendnt is in response to a strong feeling New England, and which has also nd expression in the Massachusetts ature that Congress should have power to make uniform hours of lar throughout the United States. He s the textile manufacturers of New gland are especially feeling the competition from the south, where labor is employed anywhere from 60 to 72 hours a week, while in Massachusetts only 58 urs a week are allowed. England has a uniform law operative throughout reat Britain, and Mr. Barrett says northern manufacturers contend that unless some such step is had here they will e obliged to lower wages, increase the ours of labor or see their southern ompetitors absorb their business.

AGAINST PUBLIC POLICY.

Representatives of the Press May Not Be Witness Armor Tests.

Washington, May 8.—Secretary Herbert has concluded that it is against public policy to permit representatives of the press to witness the test of the armored structure representing a model of one of the Iowa's turrets at the Indian Head proving grounds to-morrow. Hitherto the results of the tests of armor for American vessels have been freely published, but foreign governments have kept strictly secret their own experiments in this regard and the Secretary thinks the lack of reciprocity thus manifested is a sufficient reason why the practice in this country should be changed.

Approved by the President.

Washington, May 8.—The President today approved the bill appropriating $75,000 to defray the expenses of the United States in the proposed joint commission, which, according to the provisions of the treaty recently agreed to by the Senate, is to meet at San Francisco to assess the damages alleged to have been sustained by Canadian sealers through being driven off or otherwise molested while engaged in the destruction of seals in Bering sea, outside the territorial limits of the marine league from the shores of Pribyloff Islands.

The modifications made by the Senate in the convention as originally agreed to by Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, and Secretary Olney, require that the agreement shall be again referred to the British government for approval, but as the changes made by the Senate were finally deprived of all important features, under pressure brought to bear by the State department, it is not anticipated that any serious difficulty will interpose to the final ratification and promulgation of the treaty.

NOT A CERTAINTY.

Opposition Not Willing to Concede that McKinley Has a Walk-Over.

Washington, May 8. In speaking of the Indiana convention, Representative Northway of Ohio is quoted as saying: "I don't see how they can beat McKinley. The uncertain quantity is to be found in some of the Southern delegations. The opponents of McKinley have created a number of contests in the Southern States, which may cause us to lose some votes there. I think, however, that we can throw out all the contested cases from the South and still nominate our man without difficulty. There are yet 50 delegates to be chosen. Seventy-five of this number are certain to be for McKinley. They alone will offset our losses in the South, with probably some additions. No, I don't see how McKinley can be beaten."

Congressman Aldrich, of Illinois, who is an ardent champion of Speaker Reed, does not agree with the McKinley men that the endorsement of the Ohio candidate at Indianapolis definitely settles the matter.

"Of course," said Mr. Aldrich, "it would be folly to say that it is not desirable to have a number of States all to once week endorse McKinley. We wish it were otherwise, but we are not willing to concede that McKinley has a walk-over; far from it. By what authority can anyone say that McKinley will have a majority of the votes? According to Mr. Manley's estimate, made public last Monday morning, McKinley was then credited with 276 votes. Since then we concede that he has captured Hunter California, 4 in Indiana, 6 in Michigan, 2 in Illinois, and 10 in Missouri. That makes 30, does it not? Those added to the 276 we gave him increase his strength to 311. Now let us suppose for the sake of argument that he secures 14 votes in Indiana in addition to the 12 which we have allowed him, that makes 325. It is not unlikely that Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Wyoming, all silver States, will throw their strength to McKinley. They have 22 votes, which swell McKinley's figures to 357. That leaves him 10 short of a majority. Now where is he going to get the remainder? The contest is not settled by any means. It is still anybody's fight."

"You don't think then that the situation at the present time takes any of the candidates out of the race?"

"No one except it be ex-President Harrison, and he, as is well known, is not a candidate. All the others so far as I know will continue to be in evidence."

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Supreme Council of the A. P. A. Will Decide Important Questions.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—The meeting of the Supreme Council of the American Protective association in this city on the 12th inst. will be the most important event in the history of the order. Chief among the matters which will come before the meeting will be the election of officers for the year, an exhaustive discussion of the attitude which ought to be assumed with reference to financial questions, and what part, if any, the order shall take in the Presidential and Congressional elections of next autumn. It is understood that Wm. H. F. Traynor, of Detroit, will not be a candidate for re-election as president.

Among the candidates for the office will be Judge J. H. D. Stevens, of St. Louis; Dr. J. W. Ford, a Baptist clergyman of Troy, N. Y., and Col. Powers of Iowa, the founder of the order.

The present secretary, Mr. C. T. Beatty, is understood to be again a candidate for re-election with no opposition apparent.

The charges formulated against Wm. McKinley of Ohio, that he discriminated in his appointments as Governor against the order will be considered.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Another Wrangle Over Women Delegates and Everybody Was Excited.

Cleveland, May 8.—The meeting of the general conference of the Methodist Church this morning was exciting. Morris Sharp of Ohio opened up the woman question by offering a resolution providing that as the women delegates elected to this conference had relinquished their seats, that their expenses be paid, and that their male reserves, if any, be called. Rev. Dr. Leonard made a fervid speech against the passage of the resolution. "These women, it has been decided," he said, "are legal members of this body, and as such their expenses must be paid, without any resolution. I hope the conference will vote this resolution down."

Great excitement prevailed, and many delegates struggled to get the floor. An attempt to lay the resolution on the table was defeated.

Rev. Dr. Neeley of Philadelphia offered a substitute for the resolution, asking that the women delegates who had claimed the right of admission to the conference come to the floor as visitors, and that their expenses be paid by the committee.

Then followed the greatest excitement of the conference. Everybody was excited, and a dozen angry delegates in all parts of the house were vainly trying to get the floor. During the confusion both resolutions were withdrawn, and the incident closed.

After the long wrangle all reference to the debate on the woman question was ordered stricken from the record. Friday, May 15, was set apart for "Memorial day." Resolutions were adopted commending the action of Congress in cutting off aid from sectarian schools. A resolution asking the government to grant belligerent rights to the Cubans was referred without debate to the committee on the state of church. The conference then adjourned.

The evening session at the Armory was devoted to the educational anniversaries of the Methodist Church. The laymen also held a meeting, the purpose of which was to devise means to cut down the authority of the bishops and ministers. There were 62 delegates out of the 200 in There were present. They wrangled all the evening but arrived at no definite conclusion.

Practically a New Vessel.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—If a report made to Secretary Herbert by the Naval Board of Construction is adopted, the United States ship Ranger, built nearly a quarter of a century ago by John Roach, at Chester, Pa., will be made into practically a new vessel.

The scheme contemplates the thorough overhauling of the Ranger's machinery, the construction of a light spar deck and other changes that will cost about $400,000. New modern batteries, not included within the amount given, are also recommended by the board.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Discussion of the South African Revelations.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S OPINIONS.

Convinced that There Had Been Faults on Both Sides—Inquiry Into the Action of the Company Inadvisable at Present.

London, May 8.—The House of Commons was crowded with members, and the press and strangers galleries were filled with visitors to-day upon the occasion of the presentation of the Colonial estimates.

Sir William Harcourt, the leader of the opposition, reminded the government that an inquiry had been promised with the object of ascertaining whether the British South African company was in the hands of fit and proper persons to be entrusted with the administration of the affairs of the company's territory. Continuing, he said the trial of the members of the Johannesburg Reform Committee in Pretoria had disclosed important circumstances and the government now owed the country an authoritative statement.

From the telegrams which had been interpreted and published, he declared that it was obvious that the whole affair had been conducted between Johannesburg and Cape Town by the principal and responsible director of the British South African company.

Sir William said that the whole story was an inexpressible revolting, sordid and squalid picture of stock jobbing imperialism.

He admitted that Mr. Chamberlain had been surrounded by difficulties and had shown courage and decision worthy of his position, but the question was what was the government going to do.

Mr. Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, said the deplorable result of Jameson's raid had been to jeopardize English predominence in South Africa, and it had also delayed the concord of the two races, which was England's main policy. It was convinced, he said, that there had been faults on both sides, but until they had got to the bottom of the matter, the government could not properly judge the merits of the case. There had been frequent Boer invasions, he said, not merely into territory outside the Transvaal, but also into British territory. Furthermore, the Boers had shown a great want of consideration for the rights of the Uitlanders.

Rhodes's Dearest Object.

Mr. Chamberlain further said a harmonious settlement of the question of the rights of Uitlanders had long been Mr. Rhodes' dearest object. If he could only have found a coworker in President Krueger, the result would have been beneficient in promoting the federation of the South African States, whereby local rights would have been fully regarded. Though recent events had sadly interfered with these objects their accomplishment still remained the government's chief aim. President Krueger's refusal to come to England at the government's request to modify the convention of 1884 had ended the prospects of a private conference upon the leading difficulties. What then, he asked, ought to be the right step? It had been suggested that the government ought to have sent an ultimatum to President Krueger. This would certainly have been rejected and would have led to war. The government, he declared, could not think of resorting to war in order to enforce internal reforms in the Transvaal. This declaration was received with cries of "hear, hear."

Mr. Chamberlain said that he had not threatened President Krueger at all, but had claimed the right to make friendly representations. President Krueger promised to consider these representations and the government awaited the fulfillment of his promises. In the meantime he had asked Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony, to come to England, but the request for him to come was not intended as a recall.

Authenticity of the Telegrams.

In regard to the chartered company, he said he did not dispute the authenticity of the cipher telegrams, which the Transvaal authorities had published, although there was as yet no legal proofs that they indicated complicity on the part of the directors of the company, (hear, hear.) But, he continued, as regards to the actual invasion of the Transvaal there was reason to believe that Mr. Rhodes had expressed his disapproval and had endeavored to stop the raid. Did the opposition, he asked, demand the punishment of Mr. Rhodes? Whatever may have been Mr. Rhodes' errors he had also rendered great services, which could not be forgotten. Mr. Rhodes was now deprived of power for mischief and the directors of the Chartered company had shown their confidence in him by deferring their acceptance of his resignation.

Considering the disturbed state of Rhodesia and the interference of Mr. Rhodes in that territory, he did not blame the directors for their show of confidence, (cheers). The government, Mr. Chamberlain went on to say, still adhered to their promise to make a searching inquiry into the action of the Chartered company, but he held that such an inquiry must not be opened until the judicial proceedings connected with the Transvaal were ended. Then he said, he would propose an inquiry by a joint committee of both Houses.

Mr. Henry Labouchere, who is a bitter opponent of the British South Africa company described the company as a gang of shady financiers who were running a gambling concern with the Union Jack flying over it. Cecil Rhodes, he said, had uttered deliberate falsehoods, basely deceiving Governor Robinson, and had, when Prime Minister of Cape Colony, disgraced and dishonored the high tradition that British Ministers did not make money from their positions. Mr. Labouchere concluded by declaring that he resented the decision of Mr. Chamberlain, who was fettered by the Cabinet. The debate was adjourned.

MORE EVIDENCE.

Additional Telegrams and Extracts from a Note-Book.

London, May 8.—The morning papers will give prominence to two stories of impending revelations at Pretoria of the Transvaal trouble. They seem to be a rehash of the evidence given early in the trial of the members of the Johannesburg reform committee. The Volksraad, according to the stories, discovered that the British South Africa company paid £70,000 in connection with the raid into the Transvaal and intended to start a revolution.

The Times will publish a dispatch from Pretoria giving further telegrams connected with the reform movement in Johannesburg from October to December, but they contain nothing that is more striking than is contained in the cipher telegrams recently published. One dispatch refers to Colonel Rhodes, brother of Cecil Rhodes, drawing a draft for £17,000 on the British South Africa company on Dec. 30. On Dec. 28 Dr. Harris, secretary of the company at Cape Town, telegraphed to Dr. Jameson at Pitsani, saying: "It is all right if you will only wait. Captain Henry comes to you from Colonel Rhodes to-day."

The Times also publishes extracts from Major White's notebook, which, however, it does not verify. An entry on Nov. 20 summarizes a dispatch from Colonel Rhodes, announcing the co-operation of a number of wealthy persons in the movement and adding that all the arrangements for the entire government must be placed in the hands of Cecil Rhodes. Other entries relate to the preparation and payment of troops. An entry on Dec. 20, says: "Received a dispatch from Colonel Rhodes to move immediately on Johannesburg."

THE TRANSVAAL TROUBLE.

Intentions of the British South African Company.

London, May 8.—The Daily News today says that the solicitor of the British South Africa company and Cecil Rhodes in London telegraphed on Saturday last to Mr. Rhodes, who is now in Gwelo, en route to Bulawayo, informing him of the excitement caused by the publication of the cipher telegrams captured by the Boers at the time of Dr. Jameson's raid into the Transvaal. From these it is claimed that Mr. Rhodes and other officials of the company were conniving at the conspiracy of the company to overthrow the Transvaal government. The solicitor added: "In view of the altered situation in Rhodesia, the directors of the company hesitate to accept your resignation. What is your view?"

On Wednesday Mr. Rhodes replied: "Let the resignation wait. We fight the Matabele to-morrow."

According to the Daily News, the directors met Thursday and decided to defer their acceptance of Mr. Rhodes's resignation. Previous to reaching a this decision the directors conferred with Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, who declined to advise them as to the course they should pursue, but who, in view of the debate on South African affairs that will take place in the House of Commons on Friday, declined to be furnished with a definite statement by the directors of the decision they finally arrived at.

The resignations of Messrs. Rhodes, Beit and Hawks as officers of the company were tendered to the directors on Monday last.

The Telegraph publishes a dispatch from Pretoria, capital of the Transvaal, saying that the wife of John Hays Hammond, the American member of the Johannesburg reform committee, who was sentenced to death, has had a long and touching interview with President Krueger, with whom she pleaded the cause of her husband and the other convicted prisoners. President Krueger promised that he would consider all the arguments that Mrs. Hammond had submitted, and said he hoped the matter would be settled by the end of the week. The outlook now seems to be most hopeful. The prisoners, with a few exceptions, have signed detailed statements relative to the agitation.

The dispatch adds that Jeppe Schaek, chairman of the first Volksraad, has received a communication from Sir Hercules Robinson, British high commissioner in South Africa, to the effect that Earl Grey, administrator of the British South Africa company, believes the Matabele rebellion to be broken, and has therefore requested him (Sir Hercules), not to send imperial troops to Bulawayo and so increase the difficulty of placing supplies there. Sir Hercules added that British troops numbering 700 would therefore remain at Macfeking on the Transvaal frontier, pending receipt of further orders.

A Berlin Report.

Berlin, May 8.—The Neueste Nachrichten forestalls that President Krueger will publish a proclamation in which he will state that in the event of the success of the Uitlanders' movement in Johannesburg, Charles Leonard was to be President in the new government; Lionel Phillips, Secretary of State, and John Hays Hammond, Attorney General.

CALIFORNIA BROKERS FAILED.

Caught on the Wrong Side of the Rising Market.

San Francisco, May 8.—Charles P. Harris, E. L. Atkinson and Henry L. Fox, members of the San Francisco Stock Exchange Board, failed to-day. They had been heavily short. The activity which has prevailed in the market for the past week continues and prices are higher all along the line. The transactions in the San Francisco and Pacific Board rooms to-day were heavier than they have been for many months.

The flurry in the market was caused several days ago by finding of a good streak of gold ore in the Brunswick lode, which parallels the Comstock. The result was a steady rise in Comstock values. Only a few days ago Chollar stock begged buyers at 20 cents. The news of the Brunswick discovery boomed this stock until yesterday it reached a value of $3.60, while to-day bids receded to $2.20. Every Comstock company's stock felt the boom, and as the market went up short sellers like Harris, Fox and Atkinson found themselves unable to buy and they were practically shut out. Consolidated Virginia quotations on the 1st inst. reached $1.05, at the close of the market to-day the figure was $2.30. Shortsellers who were forced to buy and sell from day to day at the market prices could not stand the upward tendency, and the failures were inevitable.

Will Coin Double Eagles.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 8.—The presses at the United States mint in this city, which have been stamping silver dollars and subsidiary coin for two months will shortly also begin turning out double eagles. Gold bars to the value of $2,000,000 are now stored in the mint, and all will be coined prior to the annual shut-down, which will take place on June 30, and last for two weeks. The coinage of silver, dollars and the subsidiary coin will, however, not be stopped altogether, the order to coin them not having been rescinded.

Bound and Gagged.

Jersey City, N. J., May 8.—James Ahearn, a young man of 18 Pavonia avenue, returned home for dinner to-day and found his wife in a chair bound and gagged. He released her and she told him a young man, of whom she could give but a poor description, entered the house and said he had been sent to get $5 for Ahearn. When he was refused Mrs. Ahearn says he knocked her down, took her apron off her and tied her hands and gagged her. Then he took her pocket book containing $3, and escaped.

Bridge Arch Fell.

Troy, N. Y., This morning while men were at work on the Cohoes company's stone bridge, which had been condemned and was being replaced by an iron structure, one of the arches fell. The workmen and a number of boys and men who were watching the work were thrown into the water. Existe Vinolette, boss of the repair gang, was drowned.

To Form a New Cabinet.

Quebec, May 8.—Lieutenant Governor Chapleau to-day summoned Hon. E. J. Flynn, late commissioner of the crown lands, to form a new cabinet. This is the result of the resignation of Premier J. G. Taillon to accept a portfolio in the Dominion government.

Milwaukee Strike.

Milwaukee, May 8.—The strike of street car men will continue, both sides having at midnight informed the Common Council that they would not arbitrate.

TRIAL OF THE FILIBUSTERERS.

Prisoners from the Competitor Before a Court Martial.

FIVE SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Consul-General Williams Protested Against the Trial and Abstained from Attending—Official Reports of Engagements.

Havana, May 8.—At 8 o'clock this morning a court martial opened at the arsenal here for the trial of the men who were captured by a Spanish war ship on the alleged filibustering schooner Competitor, belonging to Key West. The prisoners were Alfred LaBorde, born in New Orleans; Owen Milton, of Kansas; Wm. Kinkla, an Englishman, and Elias Badia and Theodore Maza, both Cubans. Captain Ruiz acted as president of the court, which consisted of nine other military and naval officers. All the accused pleaded not guilty.

Several witnesses admitted that when the men were captured they were not armed and offered no resistance. Despite this fact, however, the prosecutor, Lieutenant Suarez, asked the court martial to convict the prisoners of filibustering, and to impose the death sentence upon all of them.

Counsel for the defense made a long review of the evidence and demanded the acquittal of Maza. He argued eloquently against the others being sentenced to death and declared that the evidence showed that mercy should be extended to them.

During the course of the proceedings a letter was read from the American Consul General, Ramon O. Williams, protesting against the trial. Mr. Williams abstained from attending the court martial.

Reported Successes.

General Linares reports that his command has succeeded in dislodging the forces of Jose Maceo from the entrenched camp occupied by them in the province of Santiago de Cuba. In the fighting that took place, before the rebels retreated, 17 of the insurgents were killed. The troops, according to the report, lost only two killed and seven wounded.

Another official report issued to-day states that the combined forces of Generals Altamira and Inclan have driven the rebels under Antonio Maceo into a different position in the hills at Guaramaya near Bahia Honda, province of Pinar del Rio. The report makes no mention of any rebel loss, but states that the Spaniards had seven killed and 25 wounded. Among the latter are one captain and two lieutenants. The rebel bands of Rigino and Alfonso have burned about sixty houses in the town of Laguanillas, province of Matanzas.

DEATH SENTENCES FOR FIVE.

Later Report Gives the Decision of the Court Martial.

Havana, May 8.—The court martial in the case of the Competitor filibusters has passed sentence of death upon Alfredo, who is classed as the leader of the filibustering expedition; Dr. Elias Hedia, John Milton, said to be a resident of Kansas, Wm. Gilder, said to be a British subject and Theodore Maza.

The Bermuda.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 8.—Word was received here this afternoon of the arrival at Hamilton, Bermuda, of the steamer Bermuda. She merely touched there and then cleared for Puerto Cortez, Honduras, where she is expected to drop anchor in the course of a day or two.

The Bermuda, after clearing from Philadelphia, sailed from Jacksonville, Fla., on April 26, presumably with a cargo of arms and ammunition for the Cuban insurgents. Her arrival at Trujillo indicates that she escaped from the Spanish war vessel which it is reported had chased her. It is believed that the arms and ammunition were safely landed.

Successful Expedition.

Kingston, Jamaca, May 8. Cuban residents here have received advices announcing the safe arrival in Cuba of an expedition in aid of the insurgents which recently left this island. The vessel conveying the expedition was chased by a Spanish cruiser and compelled to land her men and cargo in the vicinity of an encampment of government troops, which, however, was avoided by a flank movement.

HEREDITARY INSANITY.

Alleged Reason for a Woman's Suicide.

New York, May 8.—A handsome, well dressed woman about 28 years of age, who registered at the Colonnade hotel, Lafayette Place, Wednesday afternoon, as Mrs. Everett, of Boston, shot herself in her room to-day. The bullet entered her head through the left ear. She was found dead in bed fully dressed. She left the following note, unsigned and not addressed to anybody:

"Hereditary insanity. Please cremate and pay landlord for damages, etc. Have no family, so beg that my wishes be observed."

The letter was in a hotel envelope in which also were $89 in bills. The woman's clothing was of the finest quality. The neck of her dress was caught by a gold and enamelled brooch, studded with nine diamonds. She wore two plain gold rings on the little finger of her left hand, one wedding ring. On an undergarment were the initials "K. B." Her eyes and hair are jet black.

DUN'S REVIEW.

Weekly Summary of Trade and Commercial Conditions.

New York, May 8.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their Weekly Review of Trade to-morrow, will say:

The exports of $5,850,000 gold this week have produced no monetary disturbance and this is at once proof of the soundness of financial conditions and of the prevailing confidence in better things to come. It does not matter whether the gold is required for Russia or anywhere else; it would not go from this, rather than other countries, if there were not balances to meet. Much of the hesitation at present is due to temporarily reduced demand in some industries, and in iron and steel the power of the new combination is being generally tested by refusal of orders, so that production exceeds consumption, but the low consumption exceeds new buying. The general irregularity of prices and restriction of demand for finished products does not prevent the marking up of prices by combinations, but are largely due to doubt whether such prices as are fixed can be maintained. Pig iron is weak at the East and also at Pittsburg; tin steady and lead slightly lower, and American tinplate 30 per cent. below foreign.

For textile manufacturers the situation is trying. Cotton mills have a fairly active demand, though not equal to their normal output, and for many months have been accumulating goods, hoping for better things, so that some are now stopping, although the demand for good grades with higher prices for cotton has helped to a small advance in prices. Print cloths are an eighth higher, but some other grades have declined, so that the average of all quotations is slightly lower.

Woolen manufacturers find prices of wool sagging both here and abroad. The decline at London reaches about 5 per cent., while the average of quotations by Coates Bros., Philadelphia, was nearly 1 per cent. lower on May 1, and prices have been further reduced by concession to clear off stocks.

At the West, traders are buying much above the parity of seaboard prices, and many growers are refusing to sell, believing that the upward spurt of last year will be repeated. Sales for the week have been less than half a week's full consumption. Men's woolens show no improvement, but there is more active buying in flannels and the demand for fancy dress goods is encouraging, though for plain goods it is but moderate.

Cotton speculation has lifted the spot price to 5.31 cents and profits have been realized from the men who have sold cotton they did not own, but it is still the fact that the outlook for next fall's crop is unusually favorable, while stocks here and abroad exceed all possible demands until Sept. 1.

Failures for the week have been 238 in the United States, against 227 last year, and 24 in Canada against 34 last year.

FIRE AT VICTOR.

Attempted Incendiarism Caused Great Excitement.

Special to the Gazette.

Victor, Colo., May 8.—Quite a little excitement was caused here to-night by a fire which apparently was of incendiary origin. A frame house, on Granite avenue, owned by one Morgan, was discovered on fire by neighbors who extinguished the blaze. Investigation shows that it was started in a pile of shavings which had been freely saturated with coal oil.

Morgan was taken before the mayor and aldermen and closely questioned about the affair, but nothing against him could be found, and he was permitted to go. The insurance on the place was not large enough to make it an inducement to fire the building.

A BIG MINING DEAL.

South Dakota Transaction Which Involved $160,000.

Deadwood, S. D., May 8.—One of the largest mining deals in the history of the county was closed to-day. The Bottleson group of three claims, the Comet group of three, the Plutus group of two, the Ibex and the Victory, all located on Bald mountain, were sold to the Golden Reward Mining company for $160,000. The Bottleson group brought $55,000; the highest price ever paid for three claims. These with eight other properties recently purchased, will be incorporated in the Golden Reward Mining company.

Suicided for Love.

Spokane, Wash., May 8.—A. M. S. Hilgard, a prominent young attorney and gard, a prominent young attorney and society leader of this city, committed suicide to-day in a sensational manner. Climbing over the railing of the Post Street bridge, directly over the big falls, and in plain view of a large number of pedestrians, he fired a bullet through his brain and dropped into the Spokane river, 46 feet below. His body was swept over the falls and has not yet been recovered. Despondency over a love affair is stated to be the cause of his action.

Hilgard was a nephew of Henry Villard.

Two Other Suicides.

Cleveland, O., May 8.—The body of C. C. Horan, for many years superintendent of the canning department of the Standard Oil company in this city and at Whiting, Ind., was found to-day in an unfrequented part of Lake View cemetery. He had committed suicide by shooting. Ill health was the cause.

B. F. Whipple, one of the oldest and most prominent Odd Fellows of Cleveland, also committed suicide.

Fell Thirty-five Feet.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 8.—A painters scaffold upon which two men, William Mitchell and Nelson Bingham, were working in Williamsburg, gave way this afternoon and the men fell from the third story to the ground, a distance of 35 feet. A 4-year-old boy named James Scott, was struck by one of the men in his descent and instantly killed. Both men were badly injured.

Will start for Teheran.

London, May 8.—The Daily News will to-morrow publish a dispatch from Tabriz, saying the new Shah, Mozifer-ed-din, is making preparations to start from that city for Teheran, the capitol, in two weeks. He will be accompanied by the Russian consul, 1,000 Persian infantry, and 3,000 cavalry.

Great Britain Will Appeal.

Brussels, May 8.—The Soir says that Great Britain will appeal to the Superior Court in Brussels, against the decision given by the court at Boma, Congo Free State, acquitting Captain Lothaire of the murder of the English trader, Stokes, who was hanged by order of Captain Lothaire.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Chicago-Philadelphia.

Chicago, May 8. Captain Nash will protest the game to-day between the Phillies and the Colts, in which the latter got the decision by a score of 6 to 5. The trouble happened in the first half of the ninth inning. Thompson hit safely and Cross went to first on an error by Dahlen. Nash had three balls and two strikes called on him. He started to wrangle with the umpire and Griffith pitched a ball over the plate. It struck Nash's bat and rolled into fair ground in front of the plate. Kittredge threw to Everett and a double play was completed on Nash at first base. He claims he was not standing in the batter's box when the ball was delivered, but the umpire decided otherwise. Griffith pitched a star game. Score: Chicago 5, Philadelphia 3.

Pittsburg-Washington.

Pittsburg, May 8.—German tried to pitch for Washington to-day, but made a dismal failure. He filled the bases in the first inning and then forced in two runs, giving way to Boyd with the bases full. The Senators did poor work in this inning and Pittsburg secured enough runs to win the game. Attendance 2400. Score: Pittsburg 16, Washington 5.

St. Louis-New York.

St. Louis, May 8.—Donahue's wildness and errors by Cross and Parrott enabled the New Yorks to win. Attendance 1000. Score: St. Louis 2, New York 5.

Louisville-Boston.

Louisville, May 8.—Louisville was shut out to-day by Boston through Silvett's magnificent pitching. Attendance 300. Score: Louisville 0, Boston 7.

Cincinnati-Baltimore.

Cincinnati, May 8.—Arlington Pond, who has won two out of three games from Baltimore this season, was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning to-day. "Red" Ehret was in good form and had perfect support. Attendance 2000. Score: Cincinnati 9, Baltimore 5.

Cleveland-Brooklyn.

Cleveland, May 8.—Hard hitting by the Cleveland team, assisted by two errors and a base on balls, gave the home club a lead in the third inning. A similar combination in the seventh clinched the game. Attendance 1200. Score: Cleveland 11, Brooklyn 3.

Chinese War Indemnity.

London, May 8. The sum of £8,000,000 war indemnity from China to Japan was transferred to the latter's agents in London to-day.

WAITING NAVAL PROMOTIONS.

Many Changes Depend on Action in Captain Reed's Case.

TO BE EXAMINED AT ONCE.

One of the Instances in Which the President and the Senate Differed—Secretary Herbert Revoked An Order.

Washington, May 8.—After a consultation with the President this afternoon, Secretary Herbert revoked an order assigning Captain Allen V. Reed, U. S. N., to the command of the Newark, and directed instead that he should appear immediately before a board of officers for examination as to his fitness for promotion. This action places the somewhat noted case of Captain Reed in a position nearer settlement than it has been since President Cleveland declined to promote that officer to the rank of commodore and thus caused a stagnation in promotions below the grade of captain.

The facts leading up to this order are briefly these: Captain Reed stands at the head of the list of captains. He was examined for promotion and the board reported that he was disqualified by reason of professional unfitness. The President, after holding the case some time, decided to send to the Senate the nomination of Captain Reed with the grade of Commodore, with the condition attached that confirmation was to be given only with the understanding that Captain Reed should go to sea for a year under observation, to determine whether he was professionally fitted for promotion or not. He was to be dropped or promoted at the end of that period according to the result of the consequent examination, and the reports on his standing during the probationary 12 months. The Senate has shown a disposition not to confirm the nomination, with these conditions attached, and the President therefore, on Wednesday last, withdrew it.

Captain Reed's fate depends on the result of his examination. If he is passed, the President will make him a commodore; but if he should fail, he will be dropped from the naval service.

The great interest in the matter comes from the fact that many promotions in the service await action on the case of Captain Reed.

TO REFIT THE ATLANTA.

Speed and Travelling Power Will be Increased.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—Secretary Herbert has under consideration a report from the naval board on construction concerning the rehabilitation of the cruiser Atlanta. The plan of the board provides for new boilers and machinery that will give the vessel a speed of 16 knots and a horse power of 4,000 and the substitution of twin for the present single screw. Her speed as developed on the official trial was 15 knots and the horse power, 3,370.

If the plan is carried out the traveling range of the Atlanta will be increased about 2,000 miles, gained through additional coal carrying capacity. No change in the batteries of the vessel are contemplated.

Granted Two Months Leave.

Washington, May 8.—First Assistant Paymaster E. H. Webster, who arrived in San Francisco on the Concord, on Sunday last, and who was ordered to be in trouble with the Navy department concerning a deposit of $2,500 said to have been given in his care as surety for Mr. Tobin, his clerk, was detached from the Concord to-day and granted two months' leave. This indicates that Paymaster Webster is free from any displeasure of the department and that if an allegation concerning Tobin's collateral has been officially made, it has fallen to the ground.

Profoundly Grieved.

London, May 8.—The Chronicle's Rome correspondent telegraphs that the Pope was profoundly grieved when he heard of the death of Cardinal Galimberti, prefect of the Pontifical archives. When informed of the Cardinal's demise by Dr. Lapponi, his holiness wept and exclaimed: "God willed that I should survive my most devoted friends."

Italy and Abyssinia.

Rome, May 8.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day the government announced that Kassala would be retained. It was added that it was to Italy's interest to concurrently fulfill the claims of Great Britain's friendship. Adrigat having been relieved, would be abandoned. The ransom of the Italian prisoners held by the Abyssinians would be negotiated with King Menelek. Twelve battalions of troops now in Abyssinia would be recalled on General Baldisserra's advice.

The government repudiated the idea of abandoning Erytheria. It would fortify the frontier and construct roads and a railway in the colony. The statement which was read by the Duke of Sermoneta, Minister of Foreign Affairs, implied that Kassala would be held only temporarily.

A Democratic Candidate.

St. Louis, May 8. Col. Jos. K. Rickey, a member of the Bland executive committee, to-day received a letter from Hon. C. C. Matson of Greencastle, Ind., announcing that Governor Claude Matthews of Indiana would be a candidate before the Chicago convention for the Presidential nomination.

The Gold Reserve.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—The Treasury gold reserve at the close of business to-day stood at $117,656,614. The day's withdrawals amounted to $1,154,100.

BASE BALL TO-DAY.

Colorado Springs and Gillet, formerly Cripple Creek, Play this Afternoon.

The league season opens in this city to-day with a game between the Gillet and Colorado Springs teams. The Gillet team was formerly the Cripple Creek organization, but owing to the unfortunate condition at camp has been sold to Gillet.

The home club is now composed of a very strong set of ball tossers and the Gillett boys have been putting up very fine ball all over the State. An interesting game is promised all lovers of the game who attend this afternoon. It is sincerely hoped that a large crowd will turn out and add a little to the financial backing of the local aggregation. It is known all over the State that Colorado Springs has the best set of players of any of the State league clubs and if the boys are given a little more encouragement than has been shown them heretofore there is no doubt that they will play fine ball. Game will be called this afternoon promptly at 2 o'clock.

Following is the line-up of the two teams:

Gillett.	Position.	Col. Sp'gs.
Hickey	Catcher	Fulcher.
Knight	Pitcher	Perkins.
Harris	1st base	McMenamin.
Eichoff	2nd base	Gatewood.
Thompson	3d base	Kerr.
Davis	Short Stop	Taylor.
Walker	Center Field	Evans.
Zeits	Right Field	Vogelbaugh.

SPEAKER REED DISAPPOINTED.

He Thinks He Made One Great Error.

IT WAS IN HIS DO-NOTHING POLICY

But This Ultra Conservative Plan for Congress Was by the Advice of His Friends—Man of Action and of Courage.

WASHINGTON, May 8. [Special.] Speaker Reed is naturally much disappointed at the outcome of his campaign for the presidency. A few months ago the speaker's friends were very confident that he would be the choice of his party this year for the highest office in the government. When congress assembled last December, and Mr. Reed was triumphantly elected speaker, few observers foresaw that in four or five months he would fall so far to the rear as a presidential quantity. The great personality of the man, his admitted intellectual force, his past leadership, the friendship of some of the most powerful politicians in the country and the vast power lying in his hands as the chief spirit of the house of representatives gave every one a right to think that if Mr. Reed did not actually become the nominee of his party he would be well up in the balloting. Now it is not improbable that his name will be withdrawn.

Keen Disappointment.

While the speaker's friends were not long since very confident of the outcome I happen to know and have already reported in these dispatches that Mr. Reed himself has never had anything more than a hope. He has never felt anything approaching confidence. At the same time he feels keen disappointment at the sorry showing made by the canvass in his behalf and is particularly sad because of the result in several of the New England states, where it is admitted the speaker has not fared as well as had been expected. Mr. Reed now admits in conversation with his friends that he made one great mistake of policy when he first came to Washington last winter. When he announced an ultra conservative policy in the management of the house by saying that the country would approve this congress as much for what it did not do as for what it did do, the first blunder was committed. Mr. Reed announced this policy upon the advice of friends. He was not originally in favor of it, but yielded to their arguments and representations. Now he wishes he had not.

Speaker Reed realizes that he had come to occupy a certain place in the imaginations and affections of the people. He was looked up to almost universally as the man of action, as the man of courage, as the man who taught the house of representatives how to do business, as the man of construction. The congress met with the country in distress. Hard times were still upon the people. There was a demand for relief, for action of some sort, and even though the conditions at this capital were such as to make successful legislation well nigh impossible on account of the peculiar composition of the senate and with a Democrat in the White House still an effort to afford relief through the house of representatives would have relieved Mr. Reed of his share of the responsibility. Had he taken the initiative and pushed through some measures designed to improve the condition of affairs, the people would have applauded him, even though failure marked the effort in another department of the government. All this the speaker now perceives, when it is too late.

An Ideal Destroyed.

Even more disastrous has been the effect of the policy which was accepted by the popular mind concerning Mr. Reed himself. A man is to the country now what he may think he is, or what his immediate friends and advisers may think, and possibly not that which he is at all, but only that which the country has made him in its imagination. Having once attained a certain ideal in the popular mind, a public man must live up to it, must be measured by that standard, or he is nothing. Reed had been idealized as the man of action and courage, as the cavalier of legislation riding a great charger and armed and helmeted for the fray. But he failed to realize this ideal. He was unable to perceive that so far as the country was concerned he was this sort of a creature or he was nothing. When he announced his policy of practical do-nothingism, of passing the appropriation bills and going home, he destroyed the ideal which the people had formed of him.

In saying this it does not imply that he was wrong in his conclusion as to what was the wisest thing for the house of representatives to do. He did what he thought was the best for the country and did it unselfishly. But the country never appreciated it. The people wanted action. They felt there was something wrong in our system of government, something wrong in legislation, lest we should not have the hard times, and they wanted an effort made to afford relief. They have not been satisfied with explanations. They have not been enthusiastic about the policy of economy. They have not thrown their hats in the air over the prospect of an early adjournment.

Mistakes in New England.

Other mistakes were made by the Reed managers. For instance, they should have called all the New England conventions early in the year. They were advised to do this by the managers for other presidential candidates who were making common cause against McKinley. But the Reed people thought there was no doubt whatever about New England. They had no fear of McKinley making inroads there. Now they perceive their mistake. The status of the campaign might be very different from what it is today if Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont Republicans had been called to meet very early in the year and had declared plainly for Reed, as it is admitted they would have declared some time ago. The delay was fatal.

Another thing the Reed campaign has demonstrated is that the speakership of the house is a poor place from which to seek the presidency. In organizing committees he is forced to offend about as many men as he pleases. The same thing is true of legislation and appropriations. Everything that is done has two sides, is a two edged sword. Again, it is clearly demonstrated that congressmen are failures as agents to secure the election of delegates to a national convention. The average congressman exhausts his personal capital in securing his own renomination and re-election, and any attempt on his part to dictate as to presidential choice or delegates is likely to be resented. For this reason many of Mr. Reed's investments in committee chairmen have turned out badly.

THE COUNTY CONVENTION.

This afternoon the Republican county convention is to meet in this city. It is a very important gathering. It will have a great deal to do with the ultimate action of the Republican representatives of this State at St. Louis. It ought to have a very definite idea of what it means to do, and ought to do what it means in a straightforward way.

We believe the overwhelming majority of the nominal Republicans of this county are real Republicans; that they endorse Senator Wolcott's letter; that they believe in staying in the party, and making whatever fight is made for silver within the lines of the only party that has any remotest chance of being able to do anything for silver.

This being the case, delegates should be sent to Pueblo who will act in accordance with these ideas; who will join with the Republicans of other counties in that convention to prevent the sending of a non-Republican delegation to St. Louis, and to secure the selection of a delegation who will go as Republicans, and stay as Republicans.

It may not be very easy to do this in the Pueblo convention. There will be strong, hotheaded friends of silver there who will require persuasion to enable them to see the sense of any course except independent action for silver. There will be some traitors there, who will do their best to split the party on the silver rock, for the purpose of giving the Populists a chance at the spoils again this fall. There will be some old Republican soreheads there who are thinking more about their private grudges than they are about the good of the party or of the State.

In order to meet all these people and hold our own, the delegation from this county ought to be composed of the strongest and ablest men and women that we have. It is just as important to send good delegates to Pueblo as it is to St. Louis, and we shall not get good delegates to St. Louis unless we do send good delegates to Pueblo. The work of the El Paso delegation ought to be all outlined in advance, and every contingency provided for, so far as is possible. We suggest that it would be a good idea for the delegation to meet and organize at once, after to-day's convention—organize thoroughly, we mean; appoint its committees, pick out the persons it will present for members of committees in the Pueblo convention, persons to make particular motions, committees to work with other delegations, and all the other details that are necessary. It is true in politics as in other things that well begun is half done; and the only beginning in politics is good organization.

Since Uncle Shelby Cullom went out and let the cyclone blow through his whiskers, other candidates seem to be growing a little careful. The McKinley cyclone is sweeping most of the prairie states, and the more it sweeps, the less opposition it meets with. It is the most extraordinary thing in politics that has happened in many a year. It is not like Blaine's popularity, for Blaine was nobody's second choice. Where people were not enthusiastically for him, they were apt to be enthusiastically against him. McKinley seems to be the second choice of almost everybody who does not want him for first choice. It is this feature of his campaign which is so remarkable. He is likely to gain a good many votes on the second or even the third ballot at St. Louis, if as many as that be taken.

The Republicans have reason to congratulate themselves that they decided not to go to Chicago for their national convention. They had been there before and knew the real value of Chicago bluff. [illegible] Democrats are finding out the same thing, and unless some of the Chicago guarantors pony up, the convention may go somewhere else after all. The [illegible] many conventions held at Chicago that the people of that town got the idea that Chicago was the only place in the United States where a convention could be held, and their heads grew large accordingly. It will be a good thing for them to find out that there are others.

The Methodists have fixed up the woman trouble temporarily. They have done it characteristically too, admitting the women this year, as it were, on probation. Next year the question will have to be settled all over again. We suppose the women will get into the conference in the end. They certainly will if they want to get in.

Only two more state conventions are to [illegible] West Virginia. The Republican party of Nevada is in a state of suspended animation just now. The West Virginians are likely to go as strong for McKinley as the people in Illinois and Indiana.

Theosophic Simplicity.

In his introductory speech at the Claude Falls Wright wedding, Ernest Hargrove remarked to the assembled mahatmas, chelas, adepts and devotees: "This leads me to the subject of the simple ceremony you will shortly witness." There is some encouragement here to believe that the new English leader of the open branch of American Theosophy may be a humorist after all. The paraphernalia of the simple ceremony consisted, among other things, of a green Sphinx of heroic size; a seven-pointed electric star, showing yellow in the center and violet at the points; a "Tree of Life"; a purple velvet heart inscribed with mystic legends; an audience in regalia supposed to be inherited from the Egyptian rites; mysterious music belonging to the magi of antiquity; a color scheme in the matter of costumes and decorations intentionally vivid, in order "to start vibrations that will be far reaching in their effect and beneficial to all concerned"; a bride and groom who have known each other for five thousand years or so, and have frequently lived together in the marriage relation in previous incarnations; and an officiating priest in the person of an Unknown Master who has to be disguised in a purple velvet robe and an inquisitor's mask in order to protect his precious life from hostile thought waves. Severe, perhaps, too severe simplicity for an occasion so important!—(New York Sun.

Three Strong National Tickets a Certainty

But the very completeness and success of the party machine in New York, which avows itself satisfied with Governor Morton and pretends to support him as a presidential candidate, is what makes Governor Morton an impossibility. The willing and obedient servant of a state or local machine has never yet been accepted by a national Republican convention; and this year, of all years, is going to belong to public opinion rather than to political bosses. Party machinery is destined this year to be very seriously fractured. There will be at least three strong presidential tickets in the field. If Mr. McKinley should be nominated at St. Louis, there will certainly be a split in Chicago. The result of that split will be an extreme gold party and an extreme silver party. The Republican phalanx, on the other hand, will not split in the center. It will merely lose a part of its extreme right wing, and a part of its extreme left wing. That is to say, some Eastern business men who call themselves Republicans would rather support a candidate like Carlisle on a gold platform than support McKinley on a compromise plank. On the other hand many of the far Western Republicans, under the lead of Senator Teller and his friends, would rather support a Democratic ticket headed by a man like Governor Boies, of Iowa, on a free silver platform, than support Mr. McKinley or Mr. Allison,—not to mention Mr. Reed,—on such a platform as the Republicans are likely to adopt at St. Louis. As for the Populists, they are going to wait and see what happens in the Republican and Democratic conventions. It has been for some time very strongly hinted that the free silver forces of all parties may unite upon Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, as their candidate. It is not impossible that the break-up of party machinery may give us four formidable tickets, but it is now particularly certain that there will be at least three.—(From "The Progress of the World," in May Review of Reviews.

Straight Republican.

This paper is in favor of free silver, and will stand for it at all times. It is what the West needs, and it would not be detrimental to the interests of the East, unless it be to a few on Wall street, and the injury here would not be permanent. Where the interests of the many are concerned the few must give way. It is the law of the world. It should be the duty of the silver Republicans to turn their Eastern brethren from the error of their ways. But we must recognize the fact that there are other vital tenets of the Republican party, that Eastern Republicans have the numerical strength of the party, and that if the leaven of free silver has not as yet permeated the whole Republican lump and dispelled the germs of argyrophobia, we had better submit to the inevitable rather than split the party and give ourselves over to the enemy. We stand for silver, but for Republicanism first, and at all times.—(Walsenburg World.

The works in connection with this great undertaking are being pushed on with much energy, and the work is expected to be completed in about six years. The opening of this line will shorten the journey around the world by about 20 days.

CALL FOR REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

Headquarters of the Republican Central Committee, El Paso County, Colorado Springs, April 11, 1896.—In pursuance of the action of the Republican County Central Committee, a convention of the Republican party of El Paso county is hereby called to meet in Colorado Springs on Saturday the 9th day of May, 1896, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting sixty (60) delegates to represent said county at the Republican State convention to be held in the city of Pueblo, Colorado, on Thursday, the 14th day of May, 1896, at 2 o'clock p. m., also for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent said county in the Congressional convention and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before said convention. The several precincts are entitled to the following representation on a basis of one delegate for every seventy-five (75) votes or major fraction thereof cast for J. W. Bates for County Clerk at the general election held in November, 1895, and one delegate at large.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

Headquarters Republican Congressional Committee, Second District, Pueblo, Colo., April 11, 1896.—In compliance with the expressed wishes of a considerable majority of the Republican congressional [illegible] Colorado, a convention is hereby called to meet at 2 p. m., the 13th day of May, 1896, at the Grand Opera house, in the city of Pueblo, for the purpose of selecting two delegates and two alternates to the Republican national convention, which will meet in the city of St. Louis, State of Missouri, June 16, 1896, at the hour of 12 noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice-president and to transact such other business as may properly come before it. The several counties of the district will be entitled to representation in the convention by the same number of delegates as is provided in the call for the State convention, making a total of 363 delegates.

JAMES F. DRAKE, Chairman.
FRANK P. SCHEAFER, Secretary.

Notice.

The undersigned have this day sold out their brokerage business and good will to John S. Tucker & Co., who will be our successors in business at rooms 19 and 20 First National bank building. We take great pleasure in highly recommending Messrs. J. S. Tucker & Co., as honorable, upright and reliable gentlemen who have ample means for all purposes with which to transact business. And we bespeak for the new firm the same liberal patronage that we have received from our friends and patrons, and from the public in general for the past two years. For the present we will both have desk room with the new firm, and shall be pleased to have our friends continue business with our successors.—Yours truly,

GEO. E. LINDLEY.

VAHL'S RECORD WAS BROKEN.

our Riders Made Starts Yesterday Afternoon.

OM VAUX WAS THE WINNER.

is Time Was Four Hours and Seven Minutes—Record Beaten by Eight Minutes—Other Attempts at Breaking the Record.

Tom Vaux of this city yesterday broke H. Wahl's Denver record. Ever since Wahl set the record between this city nd Denver at 4 hours and 15 minutes, e speedy men of both cities have been zing it up with longing. One or two ave gone for it, but failed, and two or ree Denver men are coming again soon try it from this end. Vaux made it esterday in 4 hours and 7 minutes. Leavg here at 2, he arrived in Denver at minutes after 6.

The wind blew good and strong from e south yesterday morning and the ad-hitters grew ambitious. Ed Smith is the first to start. He left the postice at 1 o'clock sharp on a father-light cing wheel. About this time young ux made up his mind to try it and at o'clock started. His time was taken by E. Osborn, Captain Guthright, F. T. ratton and A. S. Blake. He rode a Vicr wheel weighing 21 pounds, fitted with inch road tires, and geared to 166.

At 2:20 P. C. Wright and F. Fairly arted, but they only went to Palmer ake, when they turned back, the wind ving dropped down. During the afteron there was much discussion among e wheelmen, who watched anxiously r news. Late in the afternoon it was rned that Vaux was five minutes ead of Wahl's time at Palmer Lake. tle Smith was behind it. From Palmer ake it is down hill and the worst of the e is over, or at least the hard pushg, so that his friends were confident at he would win out.

There seems no doubt but that the rec- l will be allowed and that the National cle agency will give Vaux the wheel omised to the person who would break record. Vaux lowered the record ht minutes, and it is a most creditaride for such a young rider.

here has been a large amount of talk late regarding the allowing of these ords made between this city and Den-, as in the Century Road club rules requires that the ride must be made om the court-house at the starting nt to the court-house at the finish. e rules not only state this, however, t in addition say that the ride may be de from any other public institutions d it is very likely that a postoffice nes under the head of public institutions.

SILL WON.

he fourth monthly prize drill of the gh School Cadet company took place terday afternoon at the High School. e drill is for a medal offered by the cers of the company to the best-drilled vate. There are to be five drills, of ch this was the fourth. Private er has won the medal twice, and Prizes Dwight and Sill once each.

rter to two. The roll was called, and ut 45 responded. It had been anneed to the school by Mr. Turnbull t on account of the wind the drill uld probably take place in the baseat of the school, but Lieutenant Johnook the company out to the north of the building and there gave them minutes of hard work on fours movents, until Captain Brayton arrived h Lieutenant Alexander. The Lieuant has judged two of the company's tests before.

he first squad drilled was the tallest in company, and also the best. This ad was drilled about five minutes, then dismissed. The best were Spicand Sill. Then each of the four squads e drilled about 10 minutes, and the ones were selected from them. The in the second were Dwight and Weyin the third, Ervay and Gregg; in fourth, Wolffe and Cheley. When all e through drilling, Sergeant Spinney ounced those who were to be in the squad. They were: Sill, Spicer, ight, Ervay and Wolffe. These fell and were drilled separately for about minutes. The first was Sill, who has n in the last squad each time, but up yesterday has had no show at the tal. He made very few mistakes and led better than ever before. Following him was Spicer, who has won the dal twice but did not do so well as al. Dwight, who has won the medal o, was next, and did very well. He le several small mistakes, that would hardly noticed by the ordinary observer. Ervay followed, with one bad ik and several small ones. Then e Wolffe, who looked as if he was led, and made several mistakes. Afthis the company fell in, and Lieuant Alexander announced that the ks showed that the medal should go rivate Sill. The Lieutenant said that he final single drill the marking had very close, and Sill had won by only points over Spicer. There were only points between the highest and the st in the final drill.

e next drill of the company, it is exed, will take place on June 5, and a more interesting time is expected. tain E. G. Mathey, of the Seventh U. avalry, watched the drill.

The Carletons To-day.

T. Carleton, the popular baritone his excellent company, will give two ormances in the opera house to-day, nee this afternoon at 2:30 and this ing, giving a change of opera each rmance. The matinee will be especially attractive, comprising a grand le bill of "The Charity Girls," and "Bohemian Girl." The Charity is a delightful blending of music clever wholesome fun, while the favorite "Bohemian Girl" needs no ds of praise for its beauty of song story. Doubtless the opera house be packed and the merry ring of hter will be as prominent as the ape for delightful melody. In the arity Girls" Mr. Carleton will sing pecial request the favorite "Tribby" "Ben Bolt."

the evening performance the beautiful drama the "Lily of Killarney" be performed with the entire strength of the company. Mr. Carleton positively appears at both matinee and evening performances. The prices for the matinee will be popular for every seats 25 and 50 cents.

At the Coliseum.

Last evening the Fremont Stock company presented "Wanted, a Husband," at the Coliseum to one of the largest audiences of the week. It is an uproarious sort of comedy and they played it for all there was in it. Mr. Fremont was seen in the part of a young farmer, a country lout. Robert Morris was seen in the part of a city man. The honors of the evening belonged to Miss Weaver, the soubrette, who gave to "Polly Brighton" the dash and go that the character deserved. Miss Keene Webber has a great make-up in "Nancy." During the evening a number of specialties were introduced.

This afternoon the Fremont company will give a matinee, the admission to which is only 10 cents. The play to be presented is "Struck Oil," a comedy. This evening they close their engagement here with "Borrowing a Wife," another very funny comedy. They will undoubtedly be greeted by large houses at both performances.

WHIST REDIVIVUS.

New School Players and Long and Short Suits.

Is this a new era in whist or is it a return to old principles? There is something of both in it. For many years the whist craze has looked with ill-concealed contempt upon his weaker C) Le Duc, who led consistently from the shortest suit he had and smiled at the occasional trick carried by the ruffing game; but what a change there is! The debased, despised, outlawed system now has a definite place in the strategy of a hand, and is as well recognized as is the development of a long suit.

We do not mean to say that the short suit and the ruffing game are the same nor do we mean that the modern game is distinctively short suit, but that there are multitudes of hands which should not be opened long has been demonstrated conclusively.

Early in the year of the Lord 1896 and in year one of whist redivivus, the C Bl Cs of Washington journey forth to do or die by testing short suits against long. First the strong Albany four went down before them, and then the redoutable Hamilton of Philadelphia hit the dust. There may be some excuses offered for the first game by the long suit advocates as the Albany club played badly beyond condemnation, and put up a game utterly unworthy of that brilliant, healty team. But the second game was won and lost purely by system. The Philadelphians played their game in the same careful trick taking way they always have, a way which has made them the most famous whist club in the east, and they lost. Their captain, in the "Evening Telegraph," said it was entirely a matter of systems, and the long lost, but that he looked forward to the game between Washington and Baltimore with keen interest, hoping the decision would be reversed. The Baltimores did win, but on a basis of long against long, not short against short. The captain of the C Bl Cs, writing to me on the eve of the battle, said: "I do not know how the game will turn out tomorrow." The team is very much divided as to how we shall play. They dislike being called guerrillas, and will probably play the old long suit game." They did and lost.

Now nearer home, the Manhatton Whist Club sent a four for eight successive Saturdays to Brooklyn to play in all the representative clubs of Brooklyn, New York and New Jersey. The Manhatteans captured every prize in sight, saving one second. The team received first prize for games won and first also for tricks scored; Mr. Hawkins first prize for high score (individual) and Mr. Henriques second; and Mr. Hawkins also scored first for the greatest number of plusses. After their string of victories in Brooklyn they returned to New York, and the additional scalp of of the celebrated Continental Club hangs at their belt.

Some time since Mr. Howell, of Boston, selected twenty-four hands from the published play in the Hamilton Cup matches, and selected a long and short suit team to try conclusions. The long suiters, Messrs. Fisher Ames, Bowie Sprague and Danforth—the short, Messrs. Becker, Clay, Knowles and White. The result: Long, 295 points; short, 329, or seventeen tricks gain for shorts. This would mean thirty-four in a regular league match, more than any club ever scored while fighting against another for a league trophy.

I was talking to a number of the winning four a few days since, Mr. Charles M. Clay, who is well known to all whisters as the foremost "whist perception problem" maker and solver in America. Mr. Clay gives as his opinion that there is a gain of about one trick in five hands for the new "common sense game," as against the old straight-laced, dyed-in-the-wool long-suit system. This is very close to my figuring. I found in five matches of forty-eight hands each, a net gain of fifty-four tricks, or nearly eleven in forty-eight. Harry Low estimates slightly more than I as I believe also does Foster.

The great gain for the new school players is due to the fact that they use their brains from the start of the hand. They do not open all hands long or all short. When suit establishment seems probable, they attempt it but do not when the chances are not good. If they have tricks to take in a suit, they take them; and try to establish remaining cards, if possible, but they never lead from a long low suit, depending on their partners for aid unless their own hand contains considerable elements of strength aside from strength in the suit opened.

The cry of the long suit ultras that the new game is non-informatory, and goes back to the old thirteen-card whist era—has no bearing on the new system, which is decidedly more informatory than any [illegible] By the new system lead a low card and tell your partner instantly that you are not only strong in that particular suit but you have the cards necessary to establish and defend it. Lead a high card and tell him you are not strong enough to invite an attack and are going to play defensively.

You can give information not only as to strength in one suit, but comparative strength in others by the play of one card. Could anything be more informatory of more speedily so than this?—Mail and Express.

It is stated that a part of Count Fourtales' object in returning to Germany is to gain from the officials of the empire permission for a shipment of 300 head of Colorado cattle. American cattle must be killed immediately upon arrival in German ports, and because Colorado cattle are not affected an attempt is to be made to have the embargo removed.

It will be remembered that a little over a year ago little Jessie Memmenger was seen in the city and took part in the heroine in the Cripple Creek play "Colorado." Miss Memmenger has since then been devoting herself to the cultivation of her talents under the instruction of a number of leading Chicago teachers both in music and the historic art and the people of Colorado Springs will probably have an opportunity of again hearing this talented young lady in the near future.

TRUE FOOD OF FISH.

A SLIGHT UNFOLDING OF WHAT ARE THE WONDERS OF NATURE.

Oysters Cannot Be Fattened—Pastures of the Sea—How the Free Swimming Fish Exist—Minute Animal Life in the Water—The Rearing of Trout.

In regard to fish, and particularly their food, the last word has not by any means been presented. If by means of fish culture some comprehension has been gained of rearing trout, what we know about the salmonidæ is not to be applied to the nutrition of all other fish. The error as to the feeding of oysters, or what is called the fattening of them, by scattering meal in the barrels where the mollusks have been kept is the most absurd of practices. It is questionable whether there is any fat at all in an oyster and whether he can under any circumstances increase his stock of condensed hydrocarbons. He feeds, of course, under certain circumstances and voraciously, and increases in size and meat and becomes corpulent, but he does not fatten, as would a pig.

The Spectator, whose articles on natural history are as intelligent as they are practical, shows what it designates as the "invisible food of fish." If we get an inkling as to the river in which fish feed, the problem of the free ranging sea fish is not so readily determinable. In the rivers running through comparatively narrow banks there must be always a certain amount of plant life. These are the pastures, in which grow the innumerable small crustaceans or minute forms, on which the river fish can feed. But at sea this is by no means the case. If on the coasts there is a marine vegetation, at a certain distance from the shore there is no such growth.

Draw a bucket of water from the Atlantic ocean, and there are to your eyes no floating organisms in it, and yet there may be innumerable fish in good condition found in the same open water. The anadromous fish do not apparently move far away from the mouths of the rivers at whose sources they were born, but in the ocean there are countless fish, pelagic ones, that move where they list and keep in good condition. If there is nothing visible in the water of the ocean, it cannot, however, be "a foodless waste." We cannot understand what is growth in bird, four footed animal or in a fish without being positive that increase in size comes from absorption of food. Something that takes on additional weight and size never came from nothing.

When certain sea fish are caught near the shore, as is the cod, or the bluefish, or the striped bass, these being carnivorous, we know on what they they had been feeding. There would be very many more lobsters if there were not so many cod, and as to menhaden, innumerable would be their shoals if it were not for the hungry bluefish.

How explain for the smaller fish, such as the herring, and finding it at certain seasons in its primest and fattest condition? If we can understand the movements of a shoal of herring, moving along in a solid phalanx and sometimes at a high rate of speed, we could understand why there is no opportunity for them to stop and feed.

The explanation why certain fish keep at certain periods of the year in good condition is because salt water, transparent, as it may seem to us to be, abounds with food. These creatures, microscopic though they may be, nature supplies in limitless quantity for the support of the fish. We know that in parts of the ocean frequented by the whales the only food of certain of these huge cetaceans is what is known as "brit," and these are small aquatic creatures which are found in incalculable quantities. The whale, then, may be said to live at times on "a sea of soup" and has only to open its mouth, strain out the water and swallow its food.

There are innumerable other microscopic creatures in the water of the sea which support the fish. They are like the motes in the air. These minute creatures are endowed with a marvelous fecundity. There is one known to scientists as the cyclops, which in the year produces as many as 42,000 young. It may be remarked here that nature is always on the watch to prevent extermination, so that when any one of its creatures is likely to be imperiled it endows it with a marvelous fecundity. But then, again, what feeds these small forms and perpetuates them? Nature here again shows her great economic process. All these microscopic forms exist in the refuse carried into the sea and thrown on it. If they assimilate this waste and thrive on it, they again give new life to the fish which devour them, and thus the cycle of existence is ever going round and round.

The Germans, in their fish cultural studies, have put in prominence what they designate as the intensive process. The name itself is rather farfetched, and not readily understandable. The idea is rather one meaning the condensation of the work of fish culture, or that within certain limits, represented by a pond, there ought to be found all the food young fish might want. The advocates of this system strongly urge the cultivation of plant life in ponds and the growth of crustaceans which thrive on this vegetable life. In a recent lecture on fish culture, given in London by Mr. Armistead, the necessity was urged of making separate pools, growing weeds and plants there, in which the millions of entomostraca might increase and serve as food for the young trout. Formerly it was believed in Germany that carp were exclusively vegetarian, and accordingly carp ponds were drained and planted with rye as carp food. It was thought that the carp ate the grain. This might be true in a small measure, but the carp took to the grain not for the vegetable substance in it, but because it was a harborage of innumerable small crustaceans.

English experts are answerable for this statement—that trout fed on worms grow slowly; others, fed on minnows, did better, but those fed on insects grow twice as fast. —New York Times.

A Youthful Epicure.

Some years ago, when the W. W. Astors were living in New York, Mrs. Astor gave a lunch party to a number of little girls who were friends of her own little daughter, then aged about 5. "I hope you have had a pleasant time, dear."

"Oh, yes," was the answer, "only the peas were not cooked enough!" New York Journal.

Mines, Stocks, Investments

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 8.—The market at the Exchange showed no improvement over yesterday. As a rule prices were lower and with few exceptions, little trading was done. Rumors concerning the flooding of the Argentum mine had an unfavorable effect on the stock for a time and caused quite a little stock to be dumped on the market. Later on official denial, those who had been sellers turned buyers and the attempt to get back their stocks sent the price up again. Isabella still remains the prime trading favorite. The stock had a steady tone throughout. It opened at yesterday's closing figures at 52¾, later going to 53¾ and closing at 52½ with sales at 12,000 shares. Golden Fleece went to 170 on the declaration of the usual monthly dividend. Cripple Creek Consolidated was traded in for 8,000 shares at unchanged prices. Union opened at 33½—a loss from yesterday's last sales of ¼. One sale of 200 shares took place at 40 after which it gradually slumped to 30¼ at which figure it closed with sales of 4,150 shares. Argentum opened at 53, a full point below yesterday's last trade. It went down by leaps until 51¼ was reached, when it recovered almost as quickly to 53¾ and 54, closing at the latter figure. In the unlisted Buckhorn was lower with transactions of 8,000 shares. Orphan Belle, Oriole, Creede and Cripple Creek and Henrietta were heavy sellers.

ARGENTUM NOT FLOODED.

Unfavorable Rumors Concerning the Mine Officially Denied.

The report that the Argentum mine at Aspen had been flooded, which appears at regular intervals, was again put in circulation yesterday and as usual has absolutely no foundation in fact. The story was finally run down and the parties responsible for it claim to have received private advices from Aspen to that effect.

President R. J. Bolles of the Argentum was seen yesterday afternoon and asked concerning the truthfulness of the story.

Mr. Bolles said it was simply a stock manipulating scheme and that there was absolutely no truth in the report; that the author of the Aspen letter had never been down the Argentum, and was therefore not in a position to talk authoratively about the property.

It will be remembered that a few years ago the Deep Mining and Drainage company wished to consolidate with the Argentum company, and, failing in their efforts, tried to use coercion by allowing the Deep Mining and Drainage properties to become flooded, which act compelled the Argentum to suspend operations for a year and a half. At the end of that period the Argentum people placed in position powerful pumps and defeated the object of the Deep Mining company, a circumstance which the latter has never been able to forget or forgive.

NEW CYANIDE PLANTS.

New Company Formed to Operate in Boulder County.

A company is being organized in this city for the erection of MacArthur-Forrest cyanide plants in Boulder county, with a capital of $50,000. The directors of the enterprise are W. H. James, general manager of the Omaha and Grant smelting works in this city; Dennis Sullivan, director of the Denver National bank; William H. Emmanuel, of the Allis Machinery company of Milwaukee; Hugh Butler, attorney-at-law, of Denver; Thomas William Goad, manager, and Charles S. Dick, secretary of the Gold and Silver Extraction company of America.

It is intended by the Boulder Recovery company to start up the Coburn cyanide plant at Magnolia, and to erect two or more 50-ton per diem plants at Four Mile and Left Hand.

It has been found that there are large bodies of suitable gold and silver refractory ores in Boulder county for treatment by the cyanide process, and from the data obtained the proposed cyanide mills will be kept busy recovering the values from the immense quantities of low-grade ores that are exposed in the mines and dumps of this district.

The fact that representative men of the great city of Glasgow, Scotland, are interested in the enterprise means that the company is bound to succeed, and the establishment of these works will result in a considerable increase of the gold and silver production of Boulder county within the next three months. The extensive and complete model plant of the Metallic Extraction company, owned by Messrs. Moffat, Smith and Charles J. Hughes, warrants the belief that the same success can be made with Boulder county ores, and that the recovery of the precious metals can be effected with similar satisfactory results.—[illegible]

Annual Work Meeting.

The deferred annual meeting of the Work company was held yesterday at the office of Mr. J. Arthur Connell, secretary of the company. A total of [illegible] shares was represented. The following gentlemen were elected directors for the coming year: I. W. Boubright, W. A. Otis, J. S. Lockraft, T. J. Maloney and D. D. Lord. Owing to his early departure for an extended visit in Europe, Mr. J. Arthur Connell declined to stand for reelection as director. The directors will meet at 12 o'clock to-day and choose officers. The reports of the various officers were read and adopted. The meeting was simply one of routine, no special business coming before the stockholders.

A Central City Strike.

Central City, Colo., May 8.—A big strike was made to-day in the Roberts-Damner[illegible] up Chaffee gulch, which is the property of Nichols & Son of Denver and Central City. A new strike was made in the drift under the Nichols property [illegible] of splendid looking copper, iron and lead. Besides this there is about four feet of milling ore. Shipments have been made with regularity from this property each month and the ore has averaged about five ounces to the cord, the tailings being worth from $10 to $20 per ton and the smelting ore has run from $75 to $100 per ton. The owners intend to ship a car of the smelting ore from the new strike before the beginning of next week and from this satisfactory returns are expected.

NOT MUCH IN NAMES.

Changed Conditions Have Made Some Inappropriate.

The history of both men and places sometimes suggests that it would have been well if their christening could have been postponed until they grew up, so as to prevent the inappropriateness of the name which they are called upon to bear. The Chinese gave a child a temporary name until its individuality had developed, so as to permit of a fitting appellation.

Silverton—silver town—is now a misnomer. It is not a common fate of localities so named. In Australia there is a Silverton whose [illegible] production has given it merited distinction, and in New Zealand there is another Silverton, which, like our San Juan township is at the present time conspicuous for its addition to the world's gold output. What's in a name, anyway? The Great Gold Fleece Wildcat Extended Mining, Milling and Refining company was all located within the narrow dimensions of a 10-foot prospect hole, and the unpretentious Small Hopes poured out its loads of carbonate sand until an humble name was forgotten in a great record.

The San Juan region, and San Juan county in particular, to day typifies the trend of Colorado's mining development. In 1894 our gold output for the first time exceeded the value of the silver produced. This was largely due to the increase from Cripple Creek, but it was also traceable to the noteworthy awakening of activity amid that great complex of mountains whose waters feed the San Juan river. Of the districts participating in this revival, San Juan county, of which Silverton is the distributing point, was remarkable in that the previous excess of silver production over gold had become reversed, and its gold now exceeds its silver [illegible]. In this respect San Juan county is peculiarly representative of the readjustment of the mining industry of this state to altered economic conditions. In 1893 the county produced gold valued at $165,621, and silver valued at $324,1[illegible]. In 1894 the output was $[illegible] in gold and $[illegible] in silver. The silver is figured at its market value. The figures for last year cannot be given, since, although San Juan county is credited at $[illegible] in gold and $[illegible] (market value) in silver, there is an undistributed amount of gold and silver put down by the mint officials to the "San Juan Region," and a good part of this should be credited to the county. The mint statistics are very unsatisfactory in that they give gold $[illegible] and silver (coinage value) $1,547,-204, to the San Juan region, instead of distributing these amounts and adding them to the figures to be credited to the various counties composing the region. Similarly "counties unknown" are credited with $438,721 in gold and $4,[illegible] in silver. Thus gold and silver to the value of two millions and three quarters have no proper distribution.

These figures are eloquent facts. They give assurance of a steady development in the face of unusual natural obstacles and the absence of speculative excitement. The natural obstacles to mining amid the snowy mountains of the southwestern part of this state have been much exaggerated. To the hardy mountaineers who dwell among them the difficulties of access are but a small matter. It is true, of course, that the long winter prevents prospecting and necessitates the closing down for several months at least of such mines as are not in position to break ore and wait for the following spring for its shipment to the smelter. Thus the opening up of young mines is seriously retarded. But a new era is dawning. The shipment on burro back of a small tonnage of high grade ore and the uncertain price of mules for packing material both combine to overcome the cost of a small scale of operation and an expensive method of transportation are giving place to systematic exploitation and adequate equipment. The utilization of the water running unharnessed in the ravine, the transmission of its energy in the form of electricity to mines far up among the snow fields, the installation of wire tramways of approved design, and the erection of mills for concentrating the low-grade ores, are the factors which are rapidly winning a conquest over natural obstacles such as will render them aids rather than hindrances to success. But this period of expensive equipment and skillful engineering would be an episode were it not for the fact that beneath it all are mines which in the face of the neglect of the investor have been building up a record and maintaining a production which have at length drawn the attention of those who go into mining to make money by delving in the ground itself and not into the pocket of a reckless and confiding public.

A familiarity with this region, so picturesque above ground and so rich underground, has impressed the writer with its destiny as the scene of a vast amount of magnificent enterprise. The great system of gold veins which start from Telluride across the Ophir and the Sneffles ranges, through Red Mountain, over Mt. Hayden to the head waters of the Animas, has characteristics worthy of note in order to make them possible within the compass of this communication. Some of them may, however, be noted briefly. The enormous thickness of flows similar in character and contemporaneous in origin with the Cripple Creek rock is traversed by later dykes, along which mineral solutions have precipitated their valuable contents in the form of quartz, involving gold, silver, lead and copper ores of [illegible] remarkable [illegible] of mineral [illegible] to such [illegible] may have been due to fractures consequent upon contraction. Many an old prospector will have noticed how frequently important veins of ore appear to radiate from centers marked by depressions in which mountain lakes now lie, mirroring in their sapphire depths the rugged peaks overlooking them. That some of these lakes may represent craters would be [illegible] and [illegible] the origin of the [illegible] connected with the chemical activity [illegible] along radiating lines of fracture, are ideas often suggested as the mountaineer [illegible] slope to rest in the recent mud lakes in the most panorama of mountain land. These [illegible], however, [illegible] scenes in contact and which make or mar the success of his enterprise. The experience of the work so far accomplished has proven the generously large size of the veins, the notable length of the ore bodies and their unusual continuity as exploration extends downward. No mining enterprise requiring the equipment of mill and tramway can win approval unless backed by ore reserves commensurate with the expenditure to be incurred on surface. Mines warranting such an investment in plant and machinery must have undergone serious development. Moreover, the problems to be solved require skill and experience. Therefore this district does not offer the fascination to a scatter-brained promoter or an irresponsible mining broker, which other, better known regions undoubtedly do. You cannot discover a mine on Monday, make a shipment on Wednesday, form a company the following week and sell out a few days later. For such tactics San Juan offers a bad field. It is out of the mine, and not out of men more foolish than yourself, that you must expect your profit. Hence the attractiveness for legitimate industry which this district possesses. Viewed in this light, a heavy snow only means ample water power, the high altitude only plenty of good timber, and all the other factors work together harmoniously in the winning of a metal which nature and man have allied to make more desirable than any other.

State Geologist.

BARE HILLS PROSPECTS.

Additional Work Still Brings More Encouragement.

Bare Hills City, Colo., May 8.—Quite a number of shafts have recently been commenced in different parts of the Bare Hills and thorough tests of the rock are being made every few feet in order to gain familiarity with the formation as well as to catch a pay streak. Assays from six to twelve feet are very encouraging and range from $3 to $12 and $14. The Cripple Creek Gold Cone Mining Company have uncovered the New York vein on one of their properties, about three-quarters of a mile southwest of the New York shaft and at a depth of six feet had an assay of $26. The company has made all preparations for doing a large amount of work and sinking will be prosecuted with vigor. It is almost a shipping proposition as it stands.

On the New York at a depth of 60 feet a drift has been commenced to catch the hanging wall which left the shaft at ten feet from the surface. The vein dipped into the hill and much of the late work although on an incline, has been done in the foot wall. Assays have gradually improved with depth, and it is believed the pay streak will be found on the hanging wall, which will soon be disclosed. The vein matter carries gold, silver and copper, and every experienced mining man who has examined this property, and they have been numerous within the past two or three weeks, pronounces it an excellent showing.

It was thought for a long time that the district was barren of phonolite and this served to keep a [illegible] this served to keep out quite a number of Cripple Creek and Victor mining men, who from their experience in that locality, consider its absence a fatal defect. Late developments have, however, proved this supposition an error. Horsetook hill and Coyote ridge have been pronounced by experts and the best assayers of Cripple Creek, Victor and Pueblo to be the purest of pronolite.

Current Notes.

Machinery is being placed over the shaft of the Gloriana No. 2. Pedroso lease of the Gold Exploration company's ground near Victor.

Col. John I. Wiggins, president of the J. K. L. company, has just returned from his ranch in the Cripple Creek district. He reports the indications for mineral on the ranch as being excellent.

In the Phillips lease on the Mollie Kathleen a new chute of sylvanite ore has been opened in a drift 65 feet east from the 200-foot station. The vein is three feet wide, and the ore runs $20, average.

The deep shaft of the Union Gold company on the Orphan May has cut into one of the richest bodies of sylvanite ore ever opened in the camp. The rich chute is 17 inches in width and the ore runs into the thousands.

The Calhoun company has decided to put on a machinery plant to crowd work on the [illegible] Bull mountain [illegible] The work is now 80 feet on its way and with air drills will be able to advance six feet a day.

Manager Ben T. Brooks of the Arlington Grouse company reports work in progress on the Prince Albert dyke, cutting lot No. 3 of the Grouse mountain [illegible] section. Lots 29 and 30 will be worked by the company with a tunnel.

At a business meeting of the Gold Mining Stock Exchange of Cripple Creek it was decided to reopen the mining call on Monday, and quarters have been secured in the banquet hall of the Masonic temple until such time as the building of the exchange is completed or better quarters are secured.

An 18-ton shipment will be made from the R[illegible] of the Anglo Colorado syndicate to-morrow. It is classified into three grades of $[illegible], $50 and $20 ore. The development in this property clearly proves that the southern extension of the Last Dollar vein has been found, and the outlook is good for a heavy shipper.

One of the largest and most important mining deals that has been made in the camp for many months will be closed in a few days. It means employment for a large number of men, and the success of an enterprise that will do as much to advance the mining interests as any that has [illegible] is also on the tapis and likely to be closed any day, a deal that will bring a large sum of Eastern capital to this state and [illegible] the development of a tract of ground known to contain an extension of one of the largest veins in the camp.

(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife, second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health.

Free Pills!

Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of constipation and sick-headache. For malaria and liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to the stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25 cents per box. Sold by Baker & Co.' druggists.

Burns are absolutely painless when De-Witt's Witch Hazel Salve is promptly applied. This statement is true. A perfect remedy for skin diseases, chapped hands and lips, and never fails to cure piles. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

The Fullerton Consumption Cure.

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent liveryman and merchant of Goshen, Va. has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain and the use of one bottle completely cured him.

We might tell you more about One Minute Cough Cure, but you probably know that it cures a cough. Everyone does who has used it. It is a perfect remedy for coughs, colds, hoarseness. It is an especial favorite for children, being pleasant to take and quick in curing. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

Colorado Springs Board of Trade and Mining Exchange.

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 8.—There was evidently no desire to do business at the Board this morning. Out of the total number of stocks called, only eight were traded in. As a whole, quotations were lower and in a few cases where higher, prices, were bid no stock was forthcoming. Isabella maintained its usual strength but recorded no sales. Gold and Globe figured for 1,600 shares at a fractional loss from yesterday's prices. Union was quite firm and up a little, the sales amounting to 1,000 shares at from 39¼ to 39½. Pharmacist was weaker and sustained a small loss, 1,000 shares changing hands. Two sales were made in the prospective mine list, the most important being Buckhorn, of which 5,000 sold at from 3 to 3¼. In the prospects Crescent had sales of 1,000 shares; in the miscellaneous list, Corinne and Seven Hills were the only issues dealt in. The market closed weak and irregular.

Note—The second or afternoon call has been abolished for the present.

CHRISTMAS COMPANY MEETING.

Decide to Erect an Expensive Plant and Ore Houses.

Victor, Colo., May 8.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Christmas Gold Mining Company, whose property, the Christmas, is located on the south slope of Bull hill, was held in the parlors of the Hotel Victor this evening. The meeting was very harmonious throughout and ... shares of stock were represented. Joseph E. Bergeron of Norway, Mich., was chosen president; Charles R. Washburn of Chicago, vice president; Wilmer M. Ramsdell of Norway, treasurer; E. M. Sampson of Norway, secretary; E. R. Lockhart, assistant secretary, and Samuel Rowe, manager.

The board of directors are Joseph E. Bergeron, Charles R. Washburn, Wilmer M. Ramsdell, E. R. Lockhart, H. J. Colwell, Harry Elds and William Sumerville. It was decided to erect an extensive machine plant and ore houses at once and to push work rapidly forward on the mine. The shaft, which is about 185 feet deep, is almost timbered up, and when this is completed and the machinery in operation a large force of men will be employed in the workings.

WEST CREEK'S LAST CHANCE.

Ore From the Rich Strike Will Be Shipped Monday.

West Creek, Colo., May 8.—Work was commenced this morning on the wagon road to the Last Chance mine and will be completed by Sunday. The ore now being taken out is being sorted and the first shipment will probably be ready about Monday. The depth of the shaft is now 60 feet and in excellent shape for working.

Different grades of the ore from the Last Chance, sufficient for about 25 assays, is being taken to Colorado Springs for thorough testing. The car load to be shipped Monday will probably be taken to Pueblo.

John S. Gardener located a claim in the vicinity of the Last Chance in the early days of the excitement here, but only had about four feet of work done on it until since the big strike in the latter, when he had it restaked and is doing the assessment work. At a depth of eight feet some ore was taken out yesterday that resembled that of the Last Chance and upon being tested was found to run $112.

The method pursued by the Nickel Plate road, by which its agents figure rates as low as the lowest, seems to meet the requirements of the traveling public. No one should think of purchasing a ticket to Buffalo N. E. A. convention during July until they first inquire what the rate is over the Nickel Plate road. For particulars write J. Y. Calahan, General Agent, 111 Adams street, Chicago, Ill.

Reduced rates to the following points via U. P. D. & G. and connections: Asbury Park, N. J., Cleveland, O., Des Moines, Ia., Fort Wayne, Ind., Kansas City, Mo., Washington, D. C. E. A. Carnes, General Agent, 11 Pikes Peak ave.

Weather Indications.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—For Colorado, partly cloudy weather; colder, westerly winds.

Ball game at Athletic park to-day. Opening game of league season.

Mr. O. H. Brainard, principle of the High school at Beatrice, Neb., is a visitor in the city.

Mrs. Newell Smith and children left last evening on the Santa Fe for a trip to Elmira, N. Y.

A license to marry was granted yesterday to Mary Lyle and Albert Lewis, both of Colorado City.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Puffer left on Thursday evening for a trip to California and will be away some time.

The railroad men state that their business is keeping up very well these days in spite of the talk of hard times.

The 8 o'clock service (Holy communion) will be omitted to-morrow at Grace church. The 11 o'clock service will be held as usual.

The regular monthly meeting of the Colorado Springs Aid society will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 109 East Pikes Peak avenue.

Copies of the Book Carnival Magazine are now on sale at the Gazette office, or at the book stores. It is a valuable souvenir of the great carnival.

Next Thursday evening occurs the benefit ball and strawberry supper by the ladies of the Rathbone Sisters for the benefit of the Cripple Creek sufferers.

E. C. Hoyser and S. E. Bartlett leave for Golden this morning to represent the college in the inter-collegiate tennis championship, which occurs there this afternoon.

Mr. F. A. Morath returned yesterday from a six week's business trip in the east. He was in Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati, and reports considerable success in placing mining properties.

There is to be a parade this afternoon by the ball teams from Gillett and this city, leaving the Alamo hotel promptly at 2 o'clock. The Troop A band will furnish music and the High school cadets will also be in line.

Tuesday evening a very pleasant dancing party was given at Camp May, in Cheyenne canon, in honor of Miss Maggie May of Ansonia, Conn. About 25 young people of the city went out and had a straw ride back to town.

The Iron Springs hotel, located at Cog Wheel railway depot, Manitou, is now open for the season of 1896. Steam heat; electric light; refitted and refurnished. Special rates until June 10. Write or call. R. R. & J. E. Kelley, proprietors.

The Good Templars will give a poverty social at the Odd Fellows hall this evening, to which the public are invited. People are expected to wear their good clothes. Strawberries and cake will be served.

The Republican county convention to nominate delegates to the State convention meets in this city this afternoon. It will meet in division 2 of the district court at 1:30. It is likely to be a very quiet and harmonious body, and will dispatch its work in short order.

Mr. Otto Feringer of this city and Miss Delia Bartholomew of Durango, were married at the residence of Mr. A. Feringer, Thursday evening, Rev. C. A. Crane officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Feringer have gone to New York for a wedding trip.

Word was received yesterday from Judge Helm that the Humane society case to test the right to shoot live pigeons for gun practice has been advanced on the Supreme court docket. It will be argued in the Supreme court on June 2nd.

The El Paso County Teachers' association will be in session at the High school today from 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. The subjects to be presented are "Getting Close to the Child," "Robinson Crusoe," "Aesthetics in the School-Room," "Civics and Love of Country." In the evening at 8 o'clock Superintendent Stevens of Trinidad will give a very interesting lecture on "John and His Schooling." Mr. Stevens is a candidate for city superintendent of schools. All those interested in education are invited to be present at both sessions.

Rev. Dr. H. C. Woods leaves the first of the week for Chicago and the east and will be gone several weeks. During his absence he delivers an address on "Chapel Building in the West," before the American Baptist Home Mission society at the National Baptist anniversaries to be held the last of this month at Asbury Park, N. J. He will also be present at the graduation of his eldest son, Mr. Clarence H. Woods at Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia. The latter takes a position for the summer as resident physician of the Children's Sea Shore House, Atlantic City, N. J.

The financial result of the Book Carnival cannot be announced just yet, because the tickets and bills have not all been reported. It is known, however, that the ladies have secured the thousand dollars which they started in for. There were $200 worth of tickets sold at the door during the evening alone, the flower booth made nearly a hundred, the book booth sold about fifty dollars worth, and the tables must have produced a very pretty sum. The ladies in charge of the guessing contest put in a hard day yesterday with the guessing cards, but have not yet been able to find out who are the prize winners.

An Iowa Wedding.

The notice below is from The Democrat at Marengo, Iowa. The groom is a nephew of Dr. E. B. Holmes of this city.

"Yesterday afternoon at St. James Episcopal church in this city occurred the marriage of Mr. Rodman R. Hathaway, of Colorado Springs, and Miss Mary [illegible] daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Groff, of Honey Creek. Rev. Dr. Judd conducted the pretty and impressive ceremony which made them husband and wife. Only a few near relatives were present.

"The groom formerly lived in this county, but for a good many years past has resided in Colorado, where he has been successfully engaged in mining, and has won a comfortable fortune. He is a gentleman, well informed, of pleasing address, who, notwithstanding his large business interests finds time to study public affairs, and is a full fledged free silver man of the 16 to 1 brand.

"The bride is one of Iowa county's most charming young ladies, who will honor and adorn his home. She is universally esteemed among her friends for her many womanly graces and amiable disposition. To the happy couple The Democrat extends its sincere wishes for their future happiness and welfare.

"Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway leave this morning for the west, and will be at home at 26 East Kiowa street, Colorado Springs."

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The members of the junior department go on an excursion this morning to Crystal Cascade. All the boys are requested to meet at the rooms at 8:30 promptly.

The Young Men's "Gym" class will meet for drill this evening at 7:30.

The young men's rally to-morrow afternoon at 4:15 will be addressed by Rev. Chas. A. Crane. All young men are cordially invited to this meeting.

Several new drinks will be introduced to-day at Baker & Co.'s soda opening.

Special train to Cripple Creek on Colorado Midland, Sunday, May 10th, only $2.50 for round trip. Train leaves Santa Fe depot 10:20 a. m.; tickets good to return, Monday, May 11th.
